Governor Brodie pocket vetoed the following bills which were passed by the legislature of their first anniversary. The form of the celebration has not been definitely settled as yet but it is safe to say that it will be something grand. The series has only been organized one year on May 25, and has nearly 300 members and it is expected to be that much larger before the anniversary celebration.

The supreme court has reversed the lower court in the case of the United States vs. Joseph Dent et al. The case was tried in this county the defendants being convicted of trespassing on forest reserves by the grazing of sheep thereon, without complying with the regulations. The supreme court holds that the law giving the secretary of the interior authority to provide a penalty in such cases is unconstitutional.

A team from the Fashion stables became frightened yesterday in front of Hotel Burke and ran away. It was a pretty run and a lucky one, too. The horses went up the street at break neck speed but kept in the middle of the street, avoiding all vehicles, made a turn around a stage in front of the stables and went inside, where they came to a stop after the buggy collided with the rear end of the stage. The only damage done was a broken tire.

As an illustration of the consistency and intelligence of some of the members of the legislature, the story is told on one of them that as chairman of a committee to which a bill was referred, he made a report recommending its passage. When the bill was up for final passage, he made a lengthy speech in opposition to it. The vote was not taken until the following day when he voted for it. If this is not getting on all sides of a question it is in order to know what is.

Sheep shearing has commenced at Cordes and Mayer. Last year the sheep of that section were shorn by machine, but sheep owners have returned to the old way this year of shearing by hand. It is estimated that the clip there this year will amount to about 200,000 pounds, which at the prevailing price of fifteen cents per pound, will put the snug little sum of $30,000 into the pockets of the sheep men in this county.

R. H. Smith has just received four large fancy goats which will be put in place in front of his handsome residence. Mrs. W. A. Drake has had the gates will be placed at the drive way entrance and two of them at the entrance to the house. Mr. Smith has recently had a fine cement wall built along the front of his lot and these gates will set the place off in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have one of the nicest homes in that part of the city.

Arrangements have been made for sounding curfew at 8:30 each evening by the blowing of the electric light whistle. If parents would do their duty by their children there would be no need of curfew. Of late however crowds of boys can be seen on the streets until a late hour at night and if one stops and listens to the conversation of many of them, he will hear language that would send a cold chill down the back of an old sailor. The curfew is needed and it should be strictly enforced.

AN EASTER SALE.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church will give an Easter sale at 10 O. F. hall from 2 o'clock to 9 p. m. next Saturday, March 28.

This country supplies five sixths of the cotton used in British mills.

PHENIX BOND ELECTION.

On April 15 the City of Phenix will vote on a proposition to issue bonds for a new water works system to be owned by the municipality. There is at present a very good water supply owned by a private corporation, which supplies the city's needs. In fact the supply is said to be one above the average, while its rates compared with that of other cities are said to be reasonable and not exorbitant. The Journal-Miner has no special interest in the Phenix water works but it had it would certainly oppose the bond issue.

Prescott's experience with municipal ownership has certainly not been of a nature that would induce one to endorse such a proposition, as it has been a constant source of expense to the city ever since it was first started. It is true that considerable unnecessary experimenting has been done—one of these experiments being the expenditure of $14,000 received from the sale of the old city hall, in a hole and corner way, for the purpose of proportion of the money, however, has been judiciously expended but the results have not been by any means beneficial to the city.

In addition to paying a good water rate, the city has been compelled to take money from taxation to pay interest on the system never having been self supporting.

Were the capital city just starting its first water system, it would be well to consider well the step before taking it, except that was the only means of securing a water supply. Or were it to be a city of the future, the present system, there might be some argument used for the issue of the bonds. But to inaugurate a water system in opposition to one already established, and to enter into competition with it looks like the height of folly, viewed from this distance, and with the experience of Prescott fresh in our mind.

An investigation into the details of the working of the Prescott system might furnish some valuable pointers to Phenix voters.

One of the bills passed by the recent legislature provides that "hereafter no franchise for any public utility shall be granted to any person, persons, company, corporation or association by any municipal corporation or the authorities thereof in the territory of Arizona, to a municipal or county corporation, or to a private person, company, corporation or association, in any municipal corporation in this territory unless authorized to be granted by a majority vote of the qualified voters of such municipal corporation at a regular election held in said municipal corporation."
